How to use this PRICE LIST

This booklet lists our current prices, superseding all former listings. All prices are subject to change without notice.

You will remember that our prices remained low long after prices for other kinds of goods were sharply raised. We would like to continue "holding the line," but higher labor and production costs no longer permit it.

This list is intended to be used with our color-illustrated 56-page ORCHARD & GARDEN BOOK, which was widely distributed last season. The page reference shown on this list by each class of items refers to the page on which a complete description (and, often, a picture) of that item will be found in the ORCHARD & GARDEN BOOK.

A limited number of copies are available without charge on request. If you do not have one, call or write us at once.

Items and sizes shown in the ORCHARD & GARDEN BOOK but NOT listed herein are no longer stocked.

Your confidence in our organization will continue to be earned by our rigid policy of growing to the highest standards in the industry, and selling—direct from grower to you, at reasonable prices.

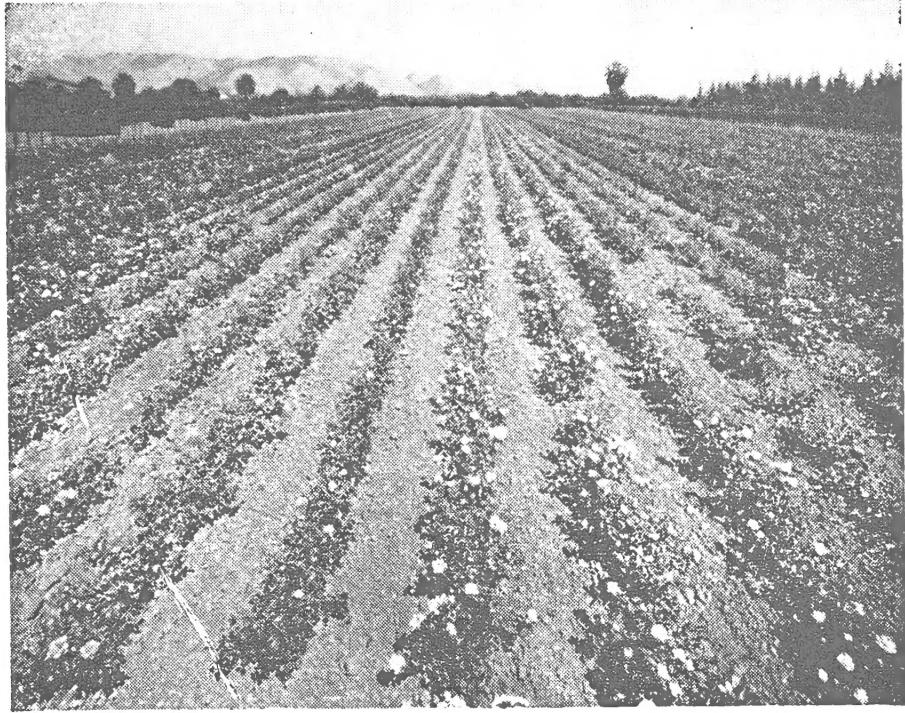

—George C. Roeding, Jr.,
President

The Best . . .

When you buy an All America Rose you buy a variety that has been tested in various parts of North America, and selected as outstanding by a national non-profit organization of experts. We recommend them as the finest.

Plant These Garden JEWELS

Add mature dignity and height to your rose garden with a selection of Roeding's Quality TREE Roses, grown and sold only by us. These are 3-year-old plants (a full year older than ordinary tree roses) and have full bushy "heads" born on sturdy "trunks." They have extra vigor, too — these tree roses can "take it."
